

CERTIFICATE

IN TEACHING ENGLISH AS A FOREIGN LANGUAGE (TEFL)
TEACHING ENGLISH AS A SECOND OR OTHER LANGUAGE (TESOL)

This is to certify that

Stanley Voorsmit

Has passed 120 hours of training

Date: October 2012

Gemma Turner

Gemma Turner
Managing Director

Notes:

Online TEFL Course (60 hours): Candidates have learned and practised the key skills of language teaching and have demonstrated the ability to develop as an English Language teacher. The candidate has displayed a native-level knowledge of English and has had experience using materials used in English language teaching. The candidate has displayed the ability to plan lessons and an awareness of classroom management. The candidate has also displayed an aptitude to gain insight from feedback.

Teaching English One-to-One (10 hours): Candidates have learned the key skills and approach required to successfully teach English one-to-one. The candidate has covered the advantages of one-to-one learning, the pitfalls and solutions of one-to-one teaching, how to adapt their materials and lesson ideas and how to identify their student's needs in their training.

Teaching English to Young Learners (10 hours): Candidates have learned the key skills and approach required to successfully teach English to young learners. The candidate has covered activities and games for young learners, motivating young learners, first lessons in English and teaching methodology in their training.

Teaching to Large Classes (10 hours): Candidates have learned the key skills and approach required to successfully teach English to large classes. Candidates have learned practical techniques and activities to ensure they have everything needed to step into a large class. The candidate has covered dealing with mixed levels, grouping and student collaboration, student, assessment and feedback, engagement and motivation, and activities for large classes in their training.

Teaching with Limited Resources (10 hours): Candidates have learned about the challenges facing teachers who do not have access to modern equipment, adequate course materials and other teaching aids. Candidates have developed tactics and techniques for teaching effectively and understand the need to be resourceful and imaginative. The candidate has covered how to teach with basic resources, how to involve students in creating lesson materials, how to use your own and your student's imagination and learnt about games and activities that require minimal resources in their training.

Grammar Awareness Course (20 hours): Candidates have learned the fundamental structures and concepts that underpin the English language and have been prepared to effectively communicate the key principles to students. The candidate has covered the core concepts of English language, English tenses, key functions and pronunciation in their training.